Warsaw, September 5.

Cardinal Odescalchi, the Pope's Nuncio here, has caused circular Letters to be sent to all the Diocesses of this Kingdom, exhorting the Clergy to put up most ardent Prayers to Almighty God, to beseech him to vouchsafe to keep off the War with which the Turks threaten this Kingdom, and to confound the Designs of the common and hereditary Enemy of Christendom. At the same time he has declared all those to be ipso facto excommunicated who are of the Party of the Turks or their Adherents, or who maintain a dangerous Correspondence with them tending to the Ruine of their native Country: Which Excommunication is of that kind, that none but the Pope himself can absolve from it. The 3d Instant we received Letters from General Gortz at Adrianople, which give Hopes that the Turks will not easily come to a Rupture still; that the Bashaws sent towards the Frontiers of Poland, were directed first to inform themselves thoroughly what are the real Sentiments of the Republick of Poland with respect to their King, viz. whether they are willing to take Stanislaus for King, or to chuse a third Person, or to keep King Augustus notwithstanding he has abdicated the Crown.

A Mail from France has brought the Paris Letter of September 18.

Paris, Sept. 18. 'Tis advised from the Camp at Spire and from Fort-Louis the 8th Instant, that there was arrived at Fort-Louis a Convoy of 2000 Bombs with other Stores of War; that great Quantities of Corn and Meal were bringing together; and that Bridges were begun to be laid over the Rhine, for the Army to pass it; mean while 'twas not believed the Army would decamp from the Posts they are possessed of along the Rhine, before the Arrival of the Corn which the People on the Side of Mentz have engaged to furnish us with for fear of having their Country foraged. The greatest Part of the said Corn is designed for the Magazines of Landau, the German Garrison of which are sent away to the other Side of the Rhine, on Condition that they shall not come within 30 Leagues of the Armies. A Party of about 200 Hussars having passed the Rhine at Mentz, and advancing to the Mountains, was cut off by a Detachment of the Troops commanded by the Marquis d'Aligre, which killed or took Prisoners the greatest Part of them. The 7th great Rejoycings were made in the Army for the taking of Landau, and the Dean of the Cathedral of Spire chose himself to begin the Te Deum, because of the good Usage which the French have shew'd to that City. Other Letters from Strasbourg of the 11th advise, that the Army commanded by the Marshal de Villars march'd that Day in the Morning for Rhinezaubern, to continue his March the 12th to Lauterbourg. 32 Battallions and some Squadrons of the Army of the Marshal de Bezons, entred that Day into the Lines, where that Marshal was to enter the 12th with the rest of his Troops; but the true Design of our Generals was not known. The Marquis de Guerchois was to arrive the 13th at the Camp of Kehl, with the Troops which were at Rhinezaubern and Lauterbourg under the Command of the Count du Bourg and the Marquis de Coigny; and Ingeniers are expected from Flanders to supply the Room of those who were killed in the Siege of Landau. We have Advice by some Letters from Germany, that Count Guido Staremberg is killed in a Duel by the Prince of Darmstadt, who is himself very much wounded. 'Tis advis'd from Madrid the 4th Instant, that the King had sent Order to Cadiz to equip 7 Ship of the Flota which came lately from the Spanish West-Indies, to serve in the Siege of Barcelona with three others that are bought at Genoa; and that his Majesty has demanded of the Kingdom a free Gift (or general Tax) for that Expedition. The last Advices from the Camp before Barcelona relate, that Don Joseph de Armendariz was come back with 40 of the principal Inhabitants of Manresa, having put Garrisons into Solsona and Bergue. The Marquis d'Arpajou was returned thither likewise from Ostalric, where he left part of his Detachment in Garrison, and had brought with him the Baillif of Arens with some others of the principal Inhabitants. The Duke

Duke de Popoli had sent Order to the Governor of Lerida, to march with some Troops of his Garrison and of that of Balaguer, to reinforce the Detachment which is before Cardona, in order with them to besiege the Castle which refuses to surrender. They write from Perpignan the 5th of this Month, that 18 Cannon of 24 pound Ball, and 12 Mortars, with a great Number of Tools to break up Ground, were sent away from thence that Day for Girona, to be conveyed on to the Camp before Barcelona, which will be battered and bombarded by Sea and Land without any Mercy. The 12 Battallions of French had passed the Defilez of Ostalic, and had possessed themselves of Massenot, where was found a great Quantity of Provisions which Nebot had caused to be lodged there. That Rebel having appeared in the Plain of Vich, with some Troops, to animate the People to Revolt, they immediately took Arms against him, and he was beaten a third Time and forced to make his Escape to the Mountains, with the Loss of 800 Horses.

Whereas J. P. Author of the Noble Spirit of Ground-ivy, that has justly gained a Reputation in the World, for that few Gentlemen will now go without it, but it being privately carped at by a Person that is for ingrossing it into his own Hands, as pretending to be the first Inventor, and Abundance of paucity Instructions, but concluding with a Desire I would lay it down, and as an Acknowledgement would present me a Piece of Plate; now I knowing to be guilty of a Vice that reigns so much in this Degenerate Age, to return Contempt for Civilities, but on the contrary give him many Thanks, since 'tis for my Interest as he pretends; but I preferring the good of the Publick before private Gain, if he would oblige me as he says, the Means how will be to turn the Plate into Money, and dispose of it into Advertisements, to let the World know the Excellency of it, when I doubt not but the Benefits that will accrue to many, and the Prayers of those relieved by it, will be much more Advantageous or at least more Satisfaction to me than the secret Enjoyment of so mean a Trifle. This noble Spirit is sold by John How, Printer, in Yalport-Court, Grace-Church-street, wholesale or Retail.
